

2023–2024 Decision Education Research Collaborative

Dates & Discussion Topics

Research in Decision Education

Friday, September 22 | 1–3pm ET

What is Decision Education? Why is research important and relevant?
How might components of Decision Education be relevant to your field of study or work?

Measurement

Friday, October 20 | 1–3pm ET

How can learning of skills or dispositions in Decision Education be measured?
What are the challenges in measuring Decision Education and how could they be addressed?

Developmental & Contextual Factors

Friday, November 10 | 1–3pm ET

What factors influence the decision-making competencies of students?
What role do developmental changes play in the learning of Decision Education?

Intervention Studies

Friday, December 8 | 1–3pm ET

What are effective interventions or strategies for teaching Decision Education and improving decision-making skills among K–12 students?
How can pedagogy and curriculum be designed and integrated to effectively teach Decision Education concepts in K–12 classrooms?

Impact on Life Outcomes

Friday, January 12 | 1-3pm ET

How can Decision Education skills transfer outside the classroom, and what is the impact of receiving Decision Education on students' life outcomes?

White Paper Workshop

Friday, February 16 | 1-3pm ET

Form groups for writing a white paper on Decision Education together, and begin creating an outline and plan for completion.

Researcher Community

Friday, March 15 | 1-3pm ET

What steps are important for establishing a community of researchers with a shared interest in Decision Education? How can the collaboration of researchers with expertise across disciplines inform knowledge in the field?

Implementation

Friday, April 12 | 1-3pm ET

How do we advance the field of Decision Education research?
What are the primary barriers to research efforts in Decision Education?

Wrap Up

Friday, May 10 | 1-3pm ET